

Name: Croc
Age: 22
Gender: Male

Daily routine

Croc is a full-time college student and part-time worker. He goes to class in the morning and takes the bus to work after class. On the way to work is his free time. He would use his free time to adjust and relax. After that, he has to work until evening before going home. When he gets home, he plays games for a while after finishing his homework, and also play games for a while before going to bed.

pain points

Croc basically has no free time except for classes and work. He will basically be very tired at the end of the day. Apart from these, he likes to play games very much. He feels that games can help him relax and find happiness.